for immediate release:

On Sunday, November 9, RUSH ARTS presents a sneak preview of ExitTheApple's RED BONE GUERRILLAS, a true story about people who don't exist. You've never seen a film like this. Part documentary, part soap opera, part tragicomedy, RED BONE GUERRILLAS stretches the conventions of filmmaking to explore social disobedience, group dynamics and performance art.

When: November 9, 12 noon and 3:00pm

Where: Rush Arts Gallery, 526 West 26th Street, Suite 311

synopsis:

When filmmaker Bonita Evans sets out to document acting legend Magenta Bergenstein, she stumbles upon the beginnings of the counterculture performance art group the Red Bone Guerrillas. What results is an inside look at the RBG's meteoric rise to prominence as they rage against the mainstream media machine.

At first, their "interventionist" street theater shocks the unsuspecting public. But when they are embraced by anonymous fans and the media alike, will they be co-opted by the monster they once vowed to destroy?

Lionel Crear, Aminisha Ferdinand, Nicole Lang, Mario Moorhead, and T'kalla star in Red Bone Guerrillas, an improvisational narrative project from exittheapple. The story was shot with no second takes and no script; providing an immersive, realistic story-telling experience for both actors and audience.

Director and multi-disciplinary artist Pierre Bennu is a 2001 NYFA Film Fellow and has been creating award-winning and thought-provoking film and video projects with exittheapple since 1992. Earlier this year, the RBG trailer won second place in the ABTV mini-doc contest at adbusters.org, and his book, "Bullsh*t Or Fertilizer: A Portable Pep Talk" was released nationwide in the US and translated into Japanese.
